

BUILDING BETTER TOGETHER MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Christopher Mackness

During COVID lockdowns, I turned to songwriting as a way to navigate. What began as a therapeutic hobby soon grew into a way of connecting with others, eventually evolving into my current platform, “C-DOT More Than Music,” which has reached millions worldwide. Through Music, I tap into a unique level of vulnerability to share my experiences; helping others to feel seen, heard, and understood, all while internally equipping listeners to navigate the challenges that life brings.

I am now a full-time Student in Mohawk College’s Architectural Technology program, with the goal of designing spaces that will restore dignity and promote healing in underserved communities— another way I hope to serve others and build towards a better future.
